House

J. W. House being a creditor of the Govt. for supplies sold to the Cotton office amounting to $50 to be paid to him in Cotton 50 bales of Cotton - all our purchases having been all made for Cotton - ~~the~~ The office is not able to pay Mr House the Cotton. It has not acquired it - and ~~perhaps~~ ~~can~~ ~~probably~~ can not do so, - but over the the 50 bales of Cotton, ~~also~~ to be covered by a passport - Mr House is, if you please, a Blockade runner, a merchant -
a cotton dealer - a speculator.
He ~~has~~ acquired with his own funds 100 bales of Cotton and wishes to export them - He proposes to pay his own bill - that is, to say, to sell the Cotton Bureau 50 bales of Cotton, ^{at the regular rate} provided it will pay him back to him on account of his debt, which is the paying him for the 50 bales of Cotton money - and taking up his ~~unpaid~~ ~~debt~~ - placing him again in the same position for the 50 B/c thus passing between us - and the ordinary regular permit for the like amt of 50 B.

Now it is evident that this transaction with Mr House is precisely the same to the Govt. as if ~~it had~~ instead of his having the 100 B/c, John Smith the Planter had had it - turned me over 50 B. and I had given to him - a permit for the other 50 B. - I would have paid Mr House this 50 Bales in settlement of this same ap.
and the John Smith & Co.
probably have sold him or some other merchant his 50 B.

The transaction is also precisely the same whether Mr House has his 100 B/c in hand or is a cotton buyer & acquires it afterwards.

The practical operation of this is to put all the interfering adverse business men to work acquiring cotton on the terms not exceeding 4000 Bales

Making permits for 1000 Bales get B.O. - making that from the idea, to pay the debts due the

But if you have had the impression that there was any ^{to the} ~~provision~~ ^{stop} or look to the Gov.
or departure from the line principle
in which the B.O. has understood to operate - or part of equity in the blockade pactos, receiving their permits
in this manner up to the head of the actual produce of the Colon, I can not but feel assured that it is a mistake to trust that this explanation will be ~~to~~ ^{to} ~~undecaying~~ ^{undecaying}

Colonel

In pursuance of instructions from Dist Headquarters, I will turn over to you, ^{fourty} Six Bales of Cotton, belonging to the Ordnance Department of the District, with cost on them for Ninety Six Bales owing to A & J. G. Hills.

The Ordnance Department is in want of several articles, as Lin-Seed-Oil, $7\frac{1}{2}$ in Rope (at Remondy's Store) Carpenters Tools, files etc, which can only be bought for specie or cotton, and this cotton may be used for the purchasing of the same.

Capt F Mohl can point out the cotton and will make such explanations as to the Accounts, as will be necessary.

There are four Bales of damaged cotton for which an order was procured to sell. I better transfer them at the same time to you as they have not yet been sold.

Very Respectfully

Your Obedient Servant

Major

I have the honor to report that in obedience to Special Orders 4880 per ~~me~~ I have examined a bill of charges of Capt R. S. Mills and by leave to submit the annexed revised bill, amounting to \$764. $\frac{63}{100}$ as just and equitable for payment in Cotton at the specie rate of the Cotton Bureau. All the charges in the revised account are in accordance with the rates charged in specie, with the exception of the charge for rebaiting, - i.e., which was valued at the rate of six for one. This is the nearest approach to specie I could make, at the time the work was done. At the present rate of charges it would amount to much more.

The various charges for cannon repairs and interest on disbursements were disallowed & dropped.

I have examined the 50 Bales stored in Hoboken Dep, and find 48 of the same in tolerable order,

2 bales in very bad order, and the cotton so much damaged that I do not think it would pay the freight on this same if sent to Havana.
The cotton, as near as I could tell without going to the expense of having it sampled, will class from good ordinary to low middling.

Supers R & D. G. Mills are willing to receive the cotton in the original bales (not unpacked) at 12/24 for 10/16 (the price allowed by the Cotton Bureau for low middling) for the amount of their claim as adjusted above.

I would respectfully suggest that their offer be accepted, that a bond of security be called on the 2 bales damaged and that the balance be shipped.

I have the honor to be
Very Respectfully

Yours Obedtly

HEADQUARTERS, DEPARTMENT, TRANS-MISS., Shreveport La., Nov. 22, 1863.

Special Orders, No. 194.

1. The necessity of the military service, and the preservation of the Government render the creation of an office to take charge of cotton in the District of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona indispensable, and the same is established as follows:

W. J. Hutchins is assigned to duty in the Quartermaster's Department, with the rank and pay of Lt. Colonel, to take charge of cotton for the Government in the District of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, and will be allowed such associates as may be necessary, not exceeding four in number.

He will obtain from the planters, by sale or agreement, all cotton that the Government may require for the purchase of army stores of all kinds, and to meet existing liabilities heretofore incurred.

All government officers, agents and contractors, engaged in the purchase or removal of cotton, in or through Texas, will, without delay, report to Lieut. Col. W. J. Hutchins, at Houston, Texas, the contract or authority under which they act, the amount of cotton purchased by them, and from whom; the destination made of it, and the amount of cotton and transportation in their possession and under their control, and all parties having control of cotton, or cotton transportation, belonging to the Government, will be governed by his instructions.

In future, all applications for the making of contracts based on cotton, or for exemptions from impressment in the District of Texas, &c., will, in every instance, be first presented to Lieut. Col. Hutchins for his approval. And all military officers in the District of Texas, &c., are prohibited from making such contracts or granting such exemptions, except upon application to Lieut. Col. Hutchins and his approval. All cotton now or hereafter in transit, not exempted as above directed, will be liable at any time to be impressed under the directions of Lieut. Col. Hutchins, to meet and relieve the immediate military necessities of this Department, and the District Commanders will issue all the necessary orders, and render all the military assistance required to carry such orders into prompt execution.

Lieut. Col. Hutchins will control the disposition of all cotton acquired by him for the Government in meeting the existing liabilities of the Government, and in the purchase of army supplies through an agent or agents designated by him, and approved by Lieut. Gen. Smith.

Lieut. Col. Hutchins will make his reports through Lieut. Col. W. A. Broadwell, to Department Headquarters.

TO THE COTTON PLANTERS OF TEXAS.

The cotton of the country, as a basis of exchange for the various army supplies which have been imported into the country, and for which payment could not be made in U. S. Treasury notes, has been relied upon as more than sufficient to meet all requirements. Its use has been practiced in various channels, and in a variety of modes, which were designed to procure and apply sufficient in quantity to meet all the demands of the Government. Some of these modes have been successful, others have proved failures, and the results that the expectations of the Government have not been realized. This has not been the fault of the planters, who have ever shown themselves willing to contribute their cotton, if satisfied it would be faithfully and judiciously used for the benefit of the Government. We do not propose to lay censure upon any one, but refer only to the fact that the chief cause of failure has been the uncertainty attending all cotton operations, in consequence of the various and conflicting orders that have from time to time emanated necessary, and the existence of numberless Government agents engaged in the acquisition and removal of cotton, who have, by competition with each other, and with private contractors, caused the rate of sale and transportation to advance to such exorbitant rates, as to defeat their own efficiency. Under these circumstances, in order to procure the amount of cotton required by the Government for the fulfillment of contracts already existing, and the procuring of army supplies still needed, it will be apparent to every one, that some plan must be adopted, that will secure uniformity, efficiency, and permanency; that the faith of the Government may be maintained, supplies of arms, clothing, medicine, &c., for our army in the field may be procured, and other private citizens engaged in legitimate trade may have an equitable and permanent basis on which to operate.

Lt. Gen. E. Kirby Smith, who is charged with the military defenses of this Department, has, under the authority of the Impressment act, declared the use of the cotton of the country, to meet the wants of the Government, a military necessity; and in order to secure it in such manner as will best supply these wants, and at the same time be liberal and just to the citizen, has, with the approval of the Secretary of War, placed the duty of procuring cotton and regulating its transportation, in the hands of a special office. The undersigned have been selected to discharge the duties of this office. We are old citizens of the State—our every interest of family and property identified with it, and the cotton trade has engaged our attention for many years. We have accepted this trust, not as a matter of choice, but from a sense of duty—hoping to accomplish to some considerable extent, the work expected of us, and relying on the frank co-operation of the planters, many of whom are personally acquainted with us. We have the assurance of Lt. Gen. Smith and of Maj. Gen. Magruder, of their assistance and confidence. The policy we propose will be liberal and just to the planter, and will, we hope, secure their aid in meeting the wants of the army.

Our plan is to purchase one-half of the cotton of the planter, or other holder, and on its delivery at a Government depot or other place agreed upon, to give exemption against military impressment for a like quantity. Under this exemption cotton can be held or exported at the pleasure of the owner, and teams engaged in its transportation will also be free from impressment. For the cotton sold to us, we will give certificates for its specie value, to be paid for in cotton bonds, or such other equivalent as Congress may provide. We had several interviews with Senator Oldham and several of our Representatives in Congress, before they left for Richmond, who assured us that they would secure such legislation as would meet our views in this particular. To pay for cotton in Confederate money would only increase the amount in circulation, and still further depreciate its value. These certificates, we believe, will be eagerly sought for investment. The exemption and security of cotton from impressment, which remains in the hands of the planters, cannot fail very greatly to enhance its value. We also desire to avail ourselves of all the transportation in the country owned by planters and others, which can be made available, in delivering cotton at the different depots, none of which will be further west than San Antonio, and to do so, we propose a rate of freight, payable in cotton, that will make it an inducement.

The wants of the army must be supplied at the earliest date. The interest of every man in the Department is involved in this, and for a limited time, individual wants must wait. For this reason the one half of any crop sold to us must be delivered at the Government Depot, before the other half can be removed.

The right of impressment, provided by law, belongs to the Chief of this Office. It will not be used, except in the case of those who are so unpatriotic as to sacrifice the interests of the country to private gain. Towards them it will be used with a just, impartial and firm hand. The necessities of the military service leave no other alternative. All cotton attempted to be moved without the protection of an exemption from this office, will be liable to impressment for Government purposes, and any interference with Government transportation by the holder of an exemption or any of his agents, either by attempting to forestall the hiring of teams, or by offering or giving a higher rate of freight than the liberal terms proposed by this Office, will cancel said exemption.

Agents will be appointed in the various districts or counties, and at the Government depots. These will be selected with care, to secure competent men, entitled to confidence. Any delinquency on the part of any of these agents, either known or reasonably suspected, we hope will be once reported to this office. We also request that all persons knowing of any cotton, bought as Government cotton, left on plantations or elsewhere, not under the care of some unquestionable and responsible Government agent, will immediately report the same to this office.

Books will be kept, exhibiting the entire transactions of the office, which may at all reasonable times be examined by any person, desirous in good faith to understand its operations. W. P. Ballinger, Esq., will act as our legal adviser, in order that we may avoid error ourselves, and hold all who deal with us to a strict accountability.

Planters of Texas, the plans of this office are well matured, its policy will be permanent, its course consistent, impartial and firm. If proper confidence and assistance are extended to us by you, we feel confident of the best results, towards thoroughly equipping our army for our defense, restoring and increasing Government credit, checking unlawful speculation, appreciating the value of the cotton in the hands of the people, enabling them to procure their needed supplies. Yours truly, E. Kirby Smith, Lt. Gen.

Your cotton is contraband to the enemy, every bale falling into his hands is seized for his Government. We appeal to you, shall there not be united, harmonious, active, efficient co-operation, by devoting a portion of your cotton to the great duties of the crisis, the successful defence of Texas from enslavement and devastation?

COTTON BUREAU DEPT. TRANS-MISS
Houston Nov. 21. 1864.
Holders of my exemptions must present them to Major A. H. Willie, at San Antonio, or to Major A. S. Cabell, at Clinton, on or before February 1, 1865, and receive a permit to exchange. Under instructions from Hon. P. W. Gray, Agent Treasury, no permits can be issued after February 1, 1865, but all permits obtained before that date will be good to the holder until used.
Holders of Agents' Certificates of Receipts for Cotton must present them to me for settlement on or before January 20th, 1865, as I will issue no exemptions of later date. This will enable all parties who have sold Cotton to the Government through this Bureau, to obtain exemptions or permits, as above, in time to secure the right of exportation under the old rules.
The exemptions of the Texas Cotton Office, signed by Lt. Col. Hutchins, are placed on the same footing, and must be presented to Major Willie on or before February 1, 1865.
Parties holding Exemption Certificates must consider this sufficient notice, and cannot complain. If they neglect to avail themselves of their rights prior to above dates.
